Rayburn Says Truman Can Avert Depression

Speaker of House Says Recession Can Only Be Man-Made

Key West, Fla., Nov. 20 (AP)—President Truman let it be known today through one of his closest associates that he believes his administration can avert another depression.

Representative Sam Rayburn, speaker-to-be of the House, laid the administration position on the line here before flying back to Texas and a speaking engagement at Dallas tonight.

"If a major recession or depression should come—which I do not expect—it will not be justified by our economic situation, but will be man-made," Rayburn told a news conference emerging from talks with the President at the temporary "White House."

This jibed with Mr. Truman's position in campaign talks in which he contended another depression could be avoided only by a Democratic victory because of his party's position that the G.O.P. would look after the rich and not all classes of the economy.

Mr. Truman's vacation drew to a close today. He set out for the beach again for a swim and a sunbath—his daily routine since his arrival two weeks ago.

He flies back to Washington tomorrow for a heavy schedule of conferences highlighted by his meeting Monday with Secretary of State Marshall and moving E.C.A. Ambassador Harriman. They will review the threats to peace in Europe, China and elsewhere.

Rayburn talked over the administration's legislative program with the President while here. Meeting with reporters in the afternoon. One reporter said to him:

"A lot of people, including some of those in Wall Street, seem to be afraid of where President Truman, Vice President-elect Barkley, and you are going to take us."

Enjoy Scare, He Says

Rayburn, pausing to frame his reply, came back slowly:

"There are many people in the country who are scared."

Highway, Rail Crews Rescue Travelers Stranded by Snow

Three Plains States Are Covered by Drifts; Livestock Losses Are Heavy

Kansas City, Nov. 20 (AP)—Plainsmen in three states today were cutting through deep snowdrifts to rescue stranded travelers and livestock.

Winter's first swoop across eastern Colorado, southwestern Nebraska and western Kansas had ridged the land with drifts from three to 20 feet deep. Trains, buses and motor cars were stalled. Telephone and power lines were down, and many communities isolated.

One death was reported. A 15-year-old girl died at Hutchinson, Kas., of diabetes when drifts blocked efforts to get her to a hospital.

Lack of severe cold lessened the hardships.

Trains on the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Rock Island lines were moving slowly today as snowplows, rammed the tracks clear. Some trains were delayed as much as 20 hours Friday.

National guardsmen in Kansas, using half-track vehicles, were hauling stranded motorists to shelter.

Two airplane pilots, flying separate routes from Kansas City to Denver late yesterday, reported seeing more than 200 motor cars stalled near the Kansas-Colorado border. They saw no distress signals, however.

Can't Reach Flocks

Farmers still were having difficulty reaching outlying flocks of sheep and herds of cattle. Sheep losses were expected to be heavy.

Highway crews expected to have at least one-way traffic restored on U. S. Highway 50S through western Kansas today.

Power companies had the job of restoring electric service to Goodland, Gorman, Colby and other towns in Kansas, and to Lexington, Neb. Telephone linemen were plugging at the task of repairing over 200 long distance circuits across Kansas, besides the countless breaks in short lines.

More than 100 communities in Nebraska lacked telephone service.

Snowplow crews were hampered

Yule Light Project Almost Completed In Uptown Area

Decorations Are Expected to Be Ready for Illumination on Friday, Dec. 3

Installation of Christmas street lighting and decorations has been almost completed in the uptown section, and the G. A. Trahan Company of Cohoes, contractors, will begin putting in the decorations on Broadway next week.

Original plans called for turning the lights on for the first time Friday evening, November 26, but because the work has been delayed by rain the official lighting of the decorations may be postponed until the following Friday, December 3, according to Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

This year for the first time, all money collected for the fund will be used on a city-wide basis, to provide unified decorations throughout the main business sections. Last year, the collections from each separate district were used to provide decorations only for that particular district, and in blocks where no collections were made, no lights were installed.

Streamers containing multi-colored lights have been placed across the streets uptown, including Wall, North Front, and Fair streets. Similar streamers will be erected across parts of Clinton avenue, Main street, lower Broadway, and the Strand. On central Broadway, which is too wide for the streamers, lighted trees will be placed on every third street light pole, with decorative transparencies on the other poles.

Response to the city-wide drive for funds this year has so far been gratifying, according to Kurdt. This year, individuals have been asked to participate along with merchants and industries.

Query From South

Mississippi Democrats Ask About Stand With the Party

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 20 (AP)—The Mississippi Democratic executive committee yesterday spiked any hopes President Truman had for getting Mississippi's electoral votes. Now it wants to know how it stands with the national party.

By the committee's efforts, the States' Rights presidential ticket rolled up a powerful election lead over President Truman in this state.

Members dispatched a telegram to National Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath asking him to clarify official recognition in Mississippi.

The action came as the state Democratic convention—in recess since Aug. 3—officially adjourned without doing anything to change the state's nine electoral votes pledged to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Approval Given Two Projects

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Thirty-one hospital construction projects which will cost an estimated $18,986,024 were approved for federal aid today by the State Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission.

Twenty of them are upstate. Eleven are in the metropolitan New York area.

Two Kingston institutions are to participate in the grants to the extent of $554,112. The new three-story building of the Ulster County Diagnostic Health Center (tumor clinic) adjacent to the Kingston Hospital will get $130,112. The Benedictine Hospital is to receive $424,000 for the addition to accommodate 100 beds and other facilities.

Dr. John J. Bourke, commission director, said federal grants would pay approximately one-third of the total cost. The rest of the expense will be borne at the projects' sponsors, including non-profit and church organizations and counties, cities and towns.

The total cost of the tumor clinic is estimated at $450,000, but application for federal aid was not made until some $60,000 had been expended on the project. Thus the one third federal grant is based on $390,336.

Total cost of the addition to the Benedictine Hospital is estimated at $1,272,000, therefore this institution's share of federal money will be $424,000.

It was reported that the Benedictine Hospital applied in individually for federal funds, and that the Ulster County Board of Supervisors requested federal aid for the tumor clinic.

The New York State Regional Hospital Planning Commission approved the tumor clinic request at a meeting in Poughkeepsie, and thereafter it was sanctioned by the New York State Joint Hospital Planning Commission for consideration by the U. S. Department of Health in Washington.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston is an ex-officio member of the state hospital group that approved a grant for the clinic.

The metropolitan area's 11 projects will cost $2,753,411.

The projects were selected to make up the first and second years' goal for a five-year, state-wide construction program. The commission recommended in a report issued last June 5.

The group was created by the 1948 legislature to survey the state's need for new and improved hospital facilities and to plan for such construction.

The commission estimated the long-range program it recommended would cost approximately $750,000,000. It would provide 54,000 additional hospital beds.

Under a formula established by the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act, the state is expected to receive $14,719,125 in federal funds before 1953. It is anticipated that more than $44,000,000 in hospital construction will be possible within the next five years.

Bourke reported that 87 percent, or 21, of the projects approved were sponsored by voluntary non-profit and church organizations. The other 10 will be undertaken by counties, cities or towns.

Robert T. Lansdale, state social welfare commissioner, is commission chairman. The other members are Dr. Frederick MacCurdy, mental hygiene commissioner, and Dr. Herman E. Hilleboer, health commissioner. Lee B. Mail

Equalization Table Adopted, Kingston Raised From 70 to 90; Supervisors Receive Reports

Federal Funds Are Sanctioned to Aid Local Tumor Clinic

The application of the Board of Supervisors which was filed by Chairman Cluett Schantz for federal funds under the Hospital Construction Act, has been approved by the United States Public Health Service and the New York Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission. Under the grant federal funds will be made available to defray a part of the cost of the Tumor Clinic.

Notice of the approval was received by Chairman Cluett Schantz, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Friday afternoon from John J. Bourke, executive director of the Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission. The telegram stated that a letter would follow with details.

The telegram read:

"Your application for federal funds under Hospital Construction Act approved by this commission and United States Public Health Service. Letter follows. John J. Bourke, executive director Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission."

Application was made some time ago for a grant from this federal fund which has been set up to aid hospitals in an expansion program. The request was for approximately $130,000.

Duffy Gets 30 Days, Four Sentences Suspended

One man was sentenced to 30 days in jail and four others received suspended sentences when arraigned in court this morning before Judge Matthew V. Cahill.

The 30-day sentence was given to William J. Duffy, 39, of 73 East Strand who police said was arrested last night on a public intoxication charge. The suspended sentences were given four men, arraigned under disorderly conduct charges of vagrancy or panhandling. All were discharged with the provision they leave the city immediately.

One other case, that of Axel Granberg, 65, of 74 Elmwood street, was adjourned until November 29. Granberg was released on $50 bail after he had pleaded innocent of a disorderly conduct charge specifying he used "loud, profane and indecent language" at his home, which is operated as a private sanatorium.

Four Supervisors Vote No; Anderson Says Rochester Not Given Consideration

Several Committees File Reports With Board

By a 25 to 4 vote the equalization table offered by the Committee on Equalization was adopted by the Board of Supervisors Friday evening. Under the table the city of Kingston is raised from 70 to 90, Shandaken is raised from 58 to 87 and Shawangunk two points.

In the city of Kingston there has been a blanket increase of 33 1/3 per cent in all assessments and in Shandaken there was a blanket 50 per cent increase of all assessments. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk appeared before the committee at its hearings and asked a 33 point rating, contending that the increase in assessments warranted that increase. The committee however allowed 20 points over last year.

The only supervisor who expressed an opinion on the table in voting against it was Supervisor Howard Anderson of Marlborough, who said he was voting against the table only in regard to his own town which he believed was not getting the consideration it should get. He said it was his opinion Rochester had not gotten proper consideration in equalization for several years.

Says Rate Unfair

The other three supervisors who voted against adoption of the table as presented was Supervisor Frank Elliott of New Paltz, Supervisor David C. Stewart of Shawangunk and Supervisor Elmer Vente of Hurley. Supervisor Stewart after the adoption of the table said he had protested because his increase in assessment had been 3.7 per cent and that the state table had given the town a 70 per cent rate. He said the two point cut for Shawangunk was "very unfair."

The Committee on Industrial and Boarding Home reported the cost of Industrial and Boarding Homes during the year from November 1, 1947 to October 31, 1948 had totaled $125,982.50 as reported by the county commissioner of public welfare and a resolution was later offered to levy and assess the proportionate share of the sum against each township and the city in accordance with the cost of care in each town, and on the county at large. Over the rule.

The Committee on Printing reported bills in the sum of $25,366.38 were in order for audit and a motion was made that this sum be levied and assessed against the county. Over the rule.

Public Welfare

The Committee on Accounts of County Commissioner of Public Welfare reported, stating it had made visits to the county home at various times during the year and had made certain recommendations.

Low-Cost Housing Project Survey Will Be Made Here

New Talks in Maritime Strike

A.F.L. Longshoremen Offer to Settle for 25 Cents an Hour

New York, Nov. 20 (AP)—New rounds of talks in the east coast waterfront tieup today centered on a reported cut in the strikers' pay demands.

A source close to the negotiators said the A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Association has offered to settle the wage issue for a 25-cent hourly increase in regular, day-work pay.

This is half the original demand for a 50-cent hourly boost. But there were scant indications the employers would accept the new figure.

Previously, the New York Shipping Association, representing the employers, fixed a 10-cent hourly increase as their utmost "concession."

It was the dockworkers' rejection of this offer that 11 days ago touched off the strike that has paralyzed every major Atlantic port and tied up 217 foreign and American-flag vessels.

The longshoremen's straight-time pay under the old contract was $1.75 hourly.

William N. Margolis, head of a federal mediation panel which brought the disputants together for the first time yesterday said the discussions had produced "new proposals which would merit serious consideration by both sides."

Industrial Committee of Chamber Asked to Assist With the Survey

At the meeting Thursday of the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Chairman S. W. Siegel gave a report on a conference he had with the mayor on the subject of low-cost housing. Mr. Siegel informed the committee that the mayor was enthusiastic about the co-operation and was very happy to see industry supporting him in connection with a low-cost housing project for Kingston.

On behalf of the committee, Mr. Siegel told the Mayor that the industries of Kingston are willing to go all out to cooperate with him to attain his object. The mayor informed Mr. Siegel that a survey would be made shortly and that he would call upon various agencies to help him in the survey. Subsequent to the meeting, the mayor asked the Industrial Promotion Committee to render concrete assistance in the conduct and completion of the survey.

A letter will be addressed to all industrial plants of the area by the Industrial Promotion Committee asking for any suggestions that industry might have to help develop an aggressive program. The committee would also like to hear from industries about the various problems faced by them so that the committee can study these problems and attempt to work out a suitable solution to those which come under their jurisdiction.

Three Found Guilty In Yonkers Murder

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Three New Yorkers were found guilty of first-degree murder last night in the slaying of Joseph Politto, a Yonkers, N. Y., fireman, last Dec. 1.

The three, John O'Hara, John Simmons and Thomas Stack, were convicted of shooting Politto when he tried to resist a holdup at the Roff Calcano Association Club in Yonkers.

The Westchester county court jury, which heard the month-long trial, recommended clemency.

O'Hara was accused of firing the shot which killed Politto. He and Simmons were captured on the spot, and Stack was arrested four months later in Long Beach, Calif.

Electric Pole Knocked Down by Automobile

An electric pole was knocked down and an automobile badly damaged in an accident on East Strand about 2:30 a. m. today, the police reported.

According to Patrolmen Walter VanSteenburgh and Charles Hoehling, the automobile, owned and driven by Peter Johnson of 69 Liberty street struck the pole located near the Cornell shops, breaking the pole off at the base. The automobile continued on, coming to rest on top of a switch on the U. S. Railroad tracks, causing possible damage to the switch. The entire front end and a portion of the left side of the automobile was damaged, police said. No injuries were reported.

High Winds Upstate

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—A lashing windstorm caused widespread destruction on western New York early today. A 75-ton coal crane, torn from an overhead trolley bridge, plunged into a building of the Conner-Hanna Coke Co. here, causing damage set at $100,000. A big smokestack toppled at Jamestown.

Steel Men Are More Cooperative Toward Administration Requests

Washington, Nov. 20 (AP)—The steel industry has agreed to set aside some of its scarce product for transporting an undisclosed "strategic material" to this country.

Plans for the new program, under the industry's voluntary priority system, were announced yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer after a meeting with the steel men.

For security reasons the amount of metal allocated and the type of strategic material destined for the nation's war emergency stockpile was not disclosed.

However, officials said, the session did disclose a "very cooperative attitude" by the steel representatives toward administration requests in contrast to that displayed at their last get-together a month before the election. At the October 6 meeting the steel men approved only two government proposals, rejected four and postponed four others.

Speculation on Controls

Since the Democratic election sweep there has been wide speculation that President Truman will ask the new Congress for mandatory control powers over steel products if the voluntary system fails. The voluntary plan, adopted by the Republican 80th Congress as a substitute for Mr. Truman's control requests, is due to expire February 28.

Sawyer said the steel group not only agreed to the set-aside for the strategic material project but also agreed to extend five programs for essential users six months beyond the February 28 expiration date.

He said the industry representatives "indicated a desire to cooperate in every way possible."

The only voluntary agreements previously extended were for national defense needs, such as for the armed forces, the Atomic Energy Commission and aviation.

McShane Seen

Newburgh Road Builder Is Prisoner of Greek Guerilla Band

Athens, Nov. 20 (AP)—An authoritative source on Friday said Francis L. McShane of Newburgh, N. Y., abducted Nov. 10 by Greek Communist guerrillas, was seen two days ago in the Peloponnese in rebel custody.

McShane, assistant superintendent of roadbuilding in the Peloponnese for the Atkinson-Drake-Park contracting firm, was seen riding a mule, the informant said. Guerrillas stopped three American trucks in the same area today, robbed and released the Greek drivers and drove the trucks over a cliff, the source continued. The guerrillas were said to have told the drivers "any Americans found on trucks would get the same fate as McShane."

They did not indicate what McShane's fate was, the sources said. McShane, 43, was seized with four Greek employees as they passed through a village which had been captured by rebels. The Greek driver of the car, who was released, reported the abduction.

Marbletown Asks County Land to Build New School

Last September by a two to one vote the voters of School District No. 6, town of Marbletown, adopted a proposition to raise $13,500 for a new school to replace the present one room frame school building at Krippelbush, which now houses 37 children in one room under one teacher.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors Friday evening a communication was read asking the Board to sell to the community for $100 a triangular piece of land which the county owns at the edge of Krippelbush as a site "for community improvement" or upon which a new school and possibly a fire house could be erected.

In support of the matter members of a committee were present at the meeting but made no statements in the meeting in support of their communication. The communication was read and filed and referred to the Rights of Way Committee.

Present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis of Accord, Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhli of Stone Ridge, George Zellner of Accord and Louis Rodelberger of Accord, members of the committee which petitioned the Board for the land.

Right Regulation For Thermostats

Automatic Heat Devices Can Give a Maximum of Fuel Economy

Automatic controls for house heating systems are coming into constantly wider use; but you must know what to expect of your thermostats in order to get the best results from them.

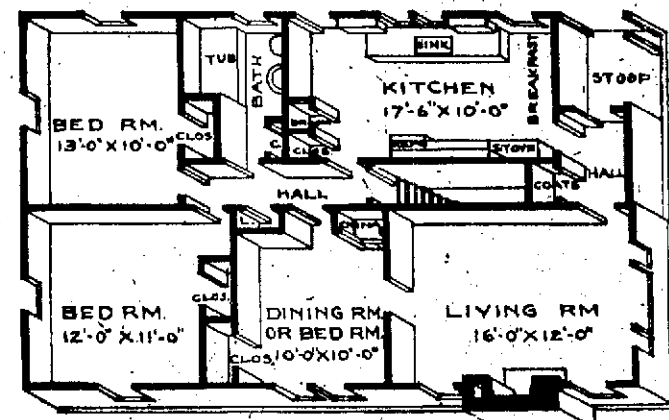

When properly installed and used, modern automatic control devices should not only keep the home at a more even temperature and so provide more healthful living conditions as well as greater comfort, but should keep the furnace going at or near its best rate for fuel economy, with far less trouble than would be required to do so by hand.

The modern thermostat should keep the furnace burning just right to provide an even warmth regardless of shifts in the wind and rises or drops of outside temperature.

A room thermostat connected for damper control will, however, not take over the job as effectively as a double control, using both room temperature and furnace bonnet temperature to govern the damper settings. But it will also be necessary to vary the bonnet temperature setting from time to time, because a higher bonnet temperature is needed to maintain the same room temperature when it gets colder outside.

Paneling Cost Varies
Wood panelled interior walls range in cost from 10 cents to $5 a square foot, depending upon the material employed and the form in which it is used.

The JEWETT

Compact One-Story House Offers Three Bedrooms

'Second' Bathroom

The "second" bath in a small home is often a desirable thing, but it frequently offers a problem because of lack of space. One possible solution is elimination of the tub and installation of a shower stall. A complete bathroom, with shower in place of a tub, can be contained in a space as small as five feet square, with favorable window arrangement.

Insulating House Walls

Forty to 60 per cent of the total heat loss from the average house goes out through the side walls and roof, the U. S. Department of Commerce reports in a bulletin on "House Insulation, its Economics and Application." This excessive heat loss can be effectively blocked by insulating the walls and second floor ceiling with four inches of mineral wool.

Increasing Demand for This Type of Home Met by This Week's Plan

The increasing demand from prospective home builders for a one story house that contains three bedrooms, and can be built on a 40 foot front lot, is met by the Home of the Week Plan Service, with the neat little plan it presents today.

With over-all dimensions of 26 x 41 feet, this house, "The Jewett" has a total cubage of 18,500 feet. This figure could be reduced, with a proportionate reduction in construction costs, by limiting cellar excavation to the area beneath the kitchen and bathroom.

In the room plan shown, the 10 x 10 foot room adjoining the living room may be utilized either as a dining room or as a third bedroom. This room has a door leading to an inner hall that connects with the kitchen, bath and the two bedrooms at the rear of the house. A good sized linen closet and a broom closet are provided for in this hall.

Economical to Heat

"The Jewett" should be an economical house to heat. It has already been suggested that the cellar excavation be made under the kitchen and bath only. In that case, instead of the outside chimney shown in the sketch, a central chimney that is less expensive to construct could be used.

The fireplace in the living room would then be placed in the inside wall and connected with the central chimney. With integral heating ducts incorporated in the fireplace, heat from the fireplace could be directed into the adjoining bedroom and to the kitchen, warming those rooms in Spring and Fall.

Almost any material or combination of materials would look well as an exterior finish on this type of house. Brick, shingles, clapboards or stone would be equally attractive.

Entrance to the house is gained via the porch, which can be screened in if so desired. The entrance door opens into a vestibule with a clothes closet and an arched opening into the living room straight ahead, and a door leading into the kitchen.

Measuring 12 x 16 feet in floor dimensions, the living room has a group of three windows as its dominant feature. The other good sized windows, which may have built-in bookcases under them, flank the Colonial fireplace and give additional light. Shifting the fireplace to the inside, as suggested, would result in no appreciable disturbance of balance in this room.

Spacious Kitchen

The kitchen, 17' 16" x 10' in floor area, is well planned and there is plenty of space for the refrigerator, range, a built-in ironing board, wall cabinets, and a working counter. The sink is located in the working counter directly under a window. Beside the working counter there is a wall space for a drop-leaf table between the broom closet and the door to the service entrance.

The dining alcove is sufficiently large to hold an ordinary dining room suite. A window gives the alcove good light and cross ventilation.

The two bedrooms at the back of the house measure 11' x 12' and 10' x 13' respectively. Each room has windows on two sides and each contains a large coat closet.

If the lot is wide enough, a semi-attached garage, with a connecting breezeway off the service entry, might be added.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week" or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Paint Window Sills

Give the window sills a coat of paint every now and then. They are exposed to the hardest sort of weather and require a coat of paint occasionally so they will not crack and warp and in this way cause leaks.

Two-Story House Cheaper

If a house is to contain more than four rooms, as a rule it may be built more economically as a two-story structure than as a bungalow.

Bathrooms Outdoor Kitchen in Color

The bathroom is more colorful than the kitchen, according to a survey made by the Bureau of Standards and the National Retail Dry Goods Association. The analysis shows that it takes seven colors to meet the ordinary demands for bathrooms, while six are satisfactory for kitchens.

The seven most desired bathroom colors are white, bath green, orchid, ivory, maize, bath blue, and royal blue.

The six most popular kitchen shades are white, kitchen green, ivory, delphinium blue, royal blue and red.

Oil Casement Hinges

The hinges of casement windows should be oiled occasionally to keep them in good condition. Otherwise they will rust and squeak unmercifully.

MOUNDS IN GEORGIA

Georgia, too, had pyramids. William H. Sears of the University of Georgia has located pyramid-shaped mounds in the southwestern part of the state, dating apparently from the eleventh century. There are made of dirt, whereas the Mexican pyramids which they resemble, and which may have inspired the Georgia builders, are of stone. On the top of the largest was a wooden temple of which only little now remains.

Not so many years ago these structures would have been attributed to a mysterious race known as the Mound-Builders. Now it is known that the mounds were built by Indians akin to the tribes of today, some of whom are said still to build them. In view of this, the new Georgia discoveries are believed to be Indian work, though as yet there is no clue as to what tribe constructed them. Little by little gaps in the history of America before Columbus landed are being filled in.

PAVEMENT POUNDING

"The professional polls misled us." This complaint has often been advanced to excuse the common prediction that Dewey would be elected. The local polls of metropolitan newspapers went just as wrong.

James Reston of the New York Times has an explanation. He says that reporters of big city newspapers covering elections have been spending most of their time interviewing political managers and other reporters, all of whom have got their information from somebody else in one of these professions, but not from the individual voters.

What is needed for predictions and polls may be more pavement pounding, more wandering around and talking to people on the street. In the good old newspaper tradition. This would be harder work than sitting around campaign headquarters, but it might prevent grossly mistaken and humiliating forecasts.

ATLAS OF IGNORANCE

The things that aren't known are sometimes more surprising than the things that are. After all these years there is still no accurate map of the world, says S. Whitmore Boggs, a geographer with the State Department. As to millions of square miles the information is either inadequate or wrong.

This does not mean necessarily that places have been inaccurately located. Mr. Boggs wants to go below the earth's surface as well as to record localities upon it. A real world map as he conceives it would show the geology and mineral resources of countries as well as their cities, rivers and mountains.

Such a map should be a product of collective cooperation by the nations, and may therefore have to wait until their feelings are more friendly. Meanwhile Mr. Boggs suggests the compilation of "an atlas of ignorance", which would show relentlessly the blanks in our knowledge. Few volumes could be more stimulating to new endeavors.

SELLING AUTOMOBILES

A House subcommittee has been delving into the practices employed in selling new and used automobiles over the past year or two. This is one congressional investigation which is not likely to attract much adverse public comment.

A Washington, D. C., salesman told the subcommittee that he always expected a tip from the customer when he sold a car, and that he didn't think $500 was an excessive tip. He said he had been a salesman for the same Washington firm for 20 years and had been receiving tips all that time.

Looking backward, perhaps nostalgically, we'll bet a new fall hat that he wasn't getting any $500 tips from the purchasers of new automobiles in 1933.

AN ATOM IS SO SMALL THAT YOU CAN'T SEE IT, BUT IT CAN CAUSE QUITE A RUCKUS.

THE DIZZY ARGUMENT

Claude Robinson, president of Opinion Research Corporation, which is the commercial side of the Gallup Poll, puts the Gallup error as follows:

	Poll	Latest	Error
Truman	44.5%	50.0%	5.5%
Dewey	49.5	45.8	3.7
Thurmond	2.0	1.9	0.1
Wallace	2.0	2.3	1.7

By "latest," he means the vote as recorded on November 4. Perhaps, he hoped, on that day, that it would change perceptibly.

In his report to his customers, Mr. Robinson philosophically states:

"All sciences progress by making mistakes. Every doctor and every engineer make careful studies of his failures in order to find and remove the 'bugs' in technique. The polling experience of 1948 most certainly will make pollsters re-examine and improve their methods."

In this he is altogether correct. When a doctor makes a serious mistake, the patient often dies. It may be of some value to the world at large that the doctor writes a learned dissertation on his error for a technical journal, but that does the dead man no good. He is dead.

Similarly when an engineer designs a crazy bridge and it collapses and those upon it are hurled into the river beneath to find a watery grave, it does them no good that he says that if the bridge had been built differently, it would not have collapsed.

The errors of science may be as costly as the errors of nonsense. Doctors' fads have done incalculable damage and some of the peculiarities of statisticians—temporarily popular—may do infinite damage. Claude Robinson then makes the point:

"Men of action want answers, not 'whereas' and 'on the other hand.' People in the polling profession must take a stand. In this case, the result was not a happy one."

That puts the "men of action" where? Suppose the results are often bad but are covered up by pseudo-scientific verbiage which misleads. Perhaps, had Mr. Dewey ignored them, he would have conducted altogether a different type of campaign. In Ohio, he lost by a hair. How is such a loss explained? Men will argue about it for many years; yet the fact is that the total vote for Governor was more than 300,000 higher than the total vote for President. Not only did numerous voters stay away from the polls, but more than 300,000 voted for a Governor but not for a President. Why? Certainly a "scientific" poll should have discovered that before the election—if there is any science to it at all.

The correct journalistic approach is altogether different from the pollsters. Unless he is one of those prima donnas who projects himself as a news item, the journalist states his case as he sees and believes it on the day he writes. He does not attempt to shake the world by prophecies and predictions. He does not personally make history; he only reports history from one man's perspective. He differs from the historian, because he writes only for today; the historian gathers the items together, compares one with the other, weighs and judges the validity of the account and reaches a conclusion which is revised by other historians.

After all, about 21,000,000 Americans out of about 45,000,000 voted for Dewey and a large part of the press supported Dewey. That does not mean that the press or the 21,000,000 were wrong in their support. An American does not support a candidate because he must win; he supports a candidate because he believes in him and what he stands for. Those who voted for Norman Thomas were just as right or wrong as those who voted for Truman or Dewey or the vegetarian from California. The only ones who may have been totally in error were those who voted for Wallace—but that is a different argument.

In a word, when the polls have done this country not only in but in prior elections has been to give the impression that the object of an election was not to debate principles and to consider men, but a horse race with handicaps. That is as un-American as the Communist Party. It is a negation of our whole conception of the free, secret election.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ANXIETY CAUSES SYMPTOMS

While the first symptoms of heart disease are shortness of breath and pain under the breastbone, these two symptoms may be caused by other than a failing heart. If this were known, there would be fewer people who are sure they have heart disease despite their physician's assurance that it is not present.

Two conditions which cause breathlessness are eating too much acid food—meat, eggs, fish—and having a blocked nose, which does not allow enough oxygen to reach the lungs and purify the blood.

Another condition causing heart symptoms pointed out in "Clinics" by Dr. Edward Weiss, Philadelphia, is anxiety attacks. These attacks, in which fainting and rapid heartbeat occur, sometimes are mistaken for organic heart disease. Therefore, the individual, believing heart disease is present, lives the over-careful life of one who really has heart disease. Believing you have an ailment when none is present is called a neurosis. In the case of the heart it is a cardiac neurosis; in the case of the stomach, a gastric neurosis.

Attacks of cardiac or heart neurosis caused by anxiety are apt to occur in young men and women, usually when they are crowded with people. These attacks should be recognized as not caused by any heart condition, so that the patient will not live the life of a heart invalid.

The physician, while quieting the fears of the patient by assuring him or her that it is not a heart attack, should be patient and listen to all he or she has to say about the symptoms from which he or she suffers—breathlessness, tiredness, even fainting. As he encourages the patient to small tasks and then greater accomplishments, the patient discusses his conflicts, and gradually improves.

Even where actual heart disease is present and emotional conflicts are causing or aggravating the symptoms, the patient with organic heart disease may shorten his life span by the extra effort he puts on the heart muscle because of his emotions. Thus, whether the patient has a neurosis of the heart or genuine heart disease an effort must be made to avoid emotional disturbances.

tem are coming to life and increasing their production with the advent of a stable currency. Whereas their wages formerly took the shape of paper of very low value, their pay is now equal to ten times as much in actual worth. The farmers are bringing their food to market in the cities instead of hoarding it for the black market, and the stores are fairly well supplied with goods. Prices are high, as supply does not yet equal demand, but conditions as a whole are much healthier.

Where Do We Go From Here?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—Here is an inside glimpse of certain things that are happening in China. It's not a pretty picture, but before pouring more U. S. dollars into China, Americans should take a long, hard look at the facts.

Chiang Kai-shek is finished—even though he refuses to face the facts. He's lost the support of the vast majority of the Chinese people. His generals, and even his own government, are anxious to oust him. Against such an imposing line-up Chiang will be fortunate to hold onto his job for the next 60 days.

Faced with the collapse of his house of cards, Chiang is losing his emotional balance, just as Hitler did during the last days of Berlin. Intimates report that the Generalissimo is starting to fly into Hitler-type rages without provocation.

Only last week Chiang was in his headquarters studying reports from his defeated armies, when he said to an old and trusted friend: "I should have resigned at the end of the war. The way I could have avoided these terrible defeats and would have been an honored citizen for the rest of my life."

The friend, anxious to avoid argument, said: "Yes, Excellency, that would have been the wise move."

Whereupon Chiang flew into an uncontrolled rage, shouting at the top of his voice: "So now you too have turned against me!"

Chinese great! The Chinese people pay much of the blame for their wretched condition directly on Chiang's doorstep. They point to his feeble attempts to wipe out army graft. They deeply resent his emperor-like manner and great wealth in the midst of hunger and want.

But most of all, the average Chinese citizen feels that the Generalissimo is personally responsible for the inflation which has wiped out the savings of middle- and low-income groups.

Just a little over a month ago Chiang announced he was going to stabilize currency and urged all Chinese to place their savings in the new gold yuan. He promised to peg the new money at the equivalent of 25 cents. The people followed his advice and placed their meager savings in the new yuan.

Today—a little more than a month later—the official yuan is worth five cents, though its real value, as reflected on the black market, is about one-half cent. The Chinese people have lost their savings—and their respect for Chiang.

When Chiang is either ousted or flees (or both) it's likely that a coalition government will be established by Vice President Li Tsung-jen and Fu Tso-yi, the latter one of the few successful Nationalist Army commanders. Even this coalition is not likely to last. Its base will be too narrow—too much similar to the present setup.

Will Russia fill the vacuum? Students of China feel that the time left for us to act is fast running out. China is rapidly becoming a political vacuum—all set for the Kremlin to take over. Thus far, the Russians haven't had to do much more than donate captured Japanese equipment to the Communist armies. Their political offensive to take over China hasn't started yet, but will soon.

Some observers think that if we discard our present game of "footsie" with the Chinese reactionaries, we may be able to save the situation—but if so, it will be a miracle.

China is too vast, too overpopulated, too graft-ridden, and most of her leaders too intent on personal gain for any outside nation to bring about reforms. Reform has got to come from inside China, not outside, and even the Russians may get into trouble when they try renovating a nation where the people of North China have to speak pidgin English to understand the people of South China.

Big Moneyed Democrats

President Truman didn't get many "big" campaign contributions prior to the elections. Compared to the Republicans. Nevertheless, he did have a few big donations, and here is a partial list of the faithful:

Floyd B. Odlum, head of the world's biggest investment trust—The Atlas Corporation—$3,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field—$4,500.

Mrs. August A. Busch of the St. Louis beer fortune—$1,500.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bruce (he's ambassador to Argentina)—$7,000.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney—assistant secretary for air—$10,000.

W. Averell Harriman—E.C.A. ambassador—$10,000. But his brother and business partner, E. Roland Harriman, gave the Republicans $11,000.

Former U. S. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings—$500. Cummings' law firm gets $60,000 yearly retainer from the Standard Oil of N. J. The Standard Oil group was backing Dewey to the limit.

Former U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle—$200.

Note—Truman's good friend, George E. Allen, vice president in charge of lobbying for a big insurance group, gave only $800 to keep his pal in the White House.

Under The Dome

Not many people realize it, but it's been years since the Far West has had a hand in the leadership of the House of Representatives. That is why a drive is on to make Congressman Mike Mansfield of Montana majority whip in the new Congress, replacing John McCormack of Massachusetts. Another reason is that Mansfield is one of the ablest, most aggressive fighters in Congress.

Russell Davenport, former editor of Life Magazine and a strong Wilkieite, is calling a secret meeting of liberal Republicans in New York city to map a liberal revolt inside the Grand Old Party.

Editor V. J. Damm of the Illinois State Register in Springfield now says G.O.P. should stand for "Grand Old Pollsters." The showdown as to when George Marshall will resign as Secretary of State will be about November 22, when Marshall comes back to confer with Truman.

Spectacular feature of the San Francisco United Nations Charter meeting was a Russian ship, the Smolna, anchored in San Francisco Bay, where Foreign Minister Molotov entertained foreign diplomats. Today the same S.S. Smolna is lurking off the coast of China infiltrating agents into the Chinese army.

Po'keepsie Man Pleads Innocent on Car Charge

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—John H. Steele, 30, Poughkeepsie automobile salesman, pleaded innocent in city court today to a charge of first degree grand larceny in connection with an alleged auto-theft ring.

He was held for examination Monday.

Steele was arrested in Poughkeepsie yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Carl Kaplan, president of Kaye's Auto Exchange of Albany.

Kaplan alleged that Steele was not the owner of an automobile which he sold to the exchange. Last month New York city police charged a state-wide ring had handled 100 stolen automobiles worth $250,000. At that time four men were arrested in Poughkeepsie and two were seized in New York.

United States who seem to enjoy being scared."

Then, apparently reminding of Mr. Truman's advocacy of an expanded program of "New Deal" legislation, he went on to say that the country at its height and people able to buy everything manufactured and grown at a reasonable profit to the manufacturer and grower, I don't know anything anybody's got to be scared about.

"Nobody can say the country's not in a prosperous and healthy condition."

And then he went on to say that any depression would be "man-made."

He predicted Democrats generally will fall into line behind the President's program.

"I think practically all Democrats will be very happy over the President's election," he said.

Scuffs at 'KID'

He scoffed at the idea of an effective coalition of southern Democrats and "reactionary Republicans" to kill Mr. Truman's "New Deal" measures.

Rayburn predicted effective cooperation between Mr. Truman and the Democratic leaders of the next Congress. He said cooperation will be greater than it was in 1944 and 1945 when the Democrats had nominal control of the two houses.

Meanwhile, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman was reported working on legislation to return the Labor Department to major cabinet status and give Secretary Maurice Tobin top authority over labor-management problems.

One close associate of Steelman's said that he was working in close harmony with Tobin.

The President will fly from Boca Chica Airport at 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow on the four-hour flight to Washington.

Hotels Must Refund

New York, Nov. 20 (AP)—A group of 230 New York hotels have been ordered to refund to tenants any rent increases collected since October 1. The order was issued yesterday by the temporary city housing commission, which was brought under investigation three days ago by the city administration. The commission also rescinded a directive it issued last month permitting hotels to raise rents up to 12 percent. Although no official figures were available last night, it was reported that 18,000 to 20,000 permanent hotel tenants had paid the increased rents. The Hotel Association of New York City, Inc., called the cancellation of the rent boost permit "eminently unjust."

research. The new draft law gives the government powers to direct distribution of goods needed in the defense program, if necessary.

Six-Month Programs

These are the five programs approved yesterday for a six-month extension:

1. Construction and repair of oil tankers—40,380 tons monthly. 2. Construction and repair of merchant ships—15,190 tons monthly, a 5,000-ton boost over the present rate. 3. Construction and repair of inland waterway barges—25,000 tons monthly, another 5,000-ton increase. 4. Construction and repair of freight cars—up to 250,000 tons monthly to meet the goal of a 10,000-car monthly output. 5. Oil field tank and production equipment—16,530 tons monthly.

In addition, the steel men agreed to make 25,000 tons available monthly for mining machinery makers, starting February 1.

Although the steel mills are completing a $1,000,000,000 expansion program this year, production still falls short of meeting the increased demand, both here and abroad.

On that score, Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) said the industry must distribute supplies wisely "if it is to remain free of government controls which may otherwise be necessary, but which we hope to avoid."

Changed to Skirts

New York, Nov. 20 (AP)—A chase by 100 policemen that led over rooftops, through courtyards, hallways and apartments of three startled families ended late yesterday with capture of a skirt-clad man. The pursuit started in a Manhattan loan company office, which the man allegedly robbed of $202. He then wore men's clothing and carried a pistol, but by the end of the wild, four-hour hunt, police said, he had changed to a disguise of a skirt, red slippers and lipstick and abandoned the gun in a basement. He was captured crouching in an apartment under a baby crib, and booked as John Barfield, 25, on charges of robbery, burglary, felonious assault and illegal possession of firearms.

Van Aken Chicken Farm At Hussey Hill Sold

John and Anna Wittreich who have owned the property since 1945, have conveyed it to Paul and Fannie Glickman of 363 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn. Many of the older residents here will remember the days when gold mining operations were being conducted on the farm at Hussey Hill. The sale was brought about through the Schultz and Cunitz agencies. The sellers were represented by Attorney Floyd W. Powell and the buyers were represented by Attorney Henry Klein. Possession will be delivered about December 1. The tract contains about 4 1/2 acres.

said there was great need for a new school. The present frame building is entirely too small to care for the 37 children and there are no sanitary provisions or water on the school premises. It is the hope of the community that a two-room school can be built to provide for the children and adequate facilities. The present plan is to erect a building of cinder block and later to brick face it.

The parcel of land which the county owns and which residents feel would make a suitable place for a school, is a plot about a half acre in area near the edge of the village of Kripplush. The county acquired it several years ago from a part of the John Gordon farm when the county road was built. At that point there was a sharp bend in the road and when this was straightened out it left a triangular plot which has not been used since by the county. One of the members of the committee stated that the land was unused and would provide ample area for a school.
